Color Street reserves the right to change rewards to be equal or greater value and has the right to audit any Stylist's account for accuracy or compliance. *While a majority of Independent Stylists' incomes rank average to below average, there is a small percentage of individuals performing at a rate far above average. Ranks from Independent Senior Directors and above typically earn an annual income achieved by fewer than 1% of Color Street Independent Stylists; these earnings are not typical. The earnings of an Independent Stylist are calculated solely on the sale of products to consumers in accordance with the Color Street Compensation Plan. In addition, Independent Stylists will incur expenses in operating their Color Street business, such as the initial business kit purchase, website fees, advertising or promotional expenses, product samples, and training. Though Color Street provides the opportunity to earn income, an Independent Stylist's success will vary based on personal commitment, individual effort, business skills, and market conditions. An Independent Stylist's income is not representative of results, and Color Street does not guarantee any income or rank success.
